ABOUT TEDDY

Teddy Tarantino, an entrepreneur from Florida, has dedicated over 15 years to the recovery community, driven by his personal battles with substance abuse during his teenage years. Recognizing the gaps in many of Florida's rehab centers, he founded his own facility, emphasizing genuine care and patient well-being. This commitment saw him establish and operate drug rehab centers by age 25, becoming a beacon of hope for many.

Branching out from his primary mission, Teddy's love for film led him to the adult entertainment industry, aiming to introduce a fresh perspective. His endeavors highlight the significance of self-discovery and following one's passions, even when they defy societal expectations. Alongside, he hosts the "Hell Has An Exit Podcast," a platform dedicated to helping individuals navigate personal adversities.

In his recent venture into film and adult entertainment, Teddy has quickly made a mark, collaborating with industry stars and garnering an impressive 54 million views. His story, spanning healthcare and entertainment, stands as a powerful testament to personal growth and the ripple effect of positive change.
